

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A power-loss recovery method is disclosed in which a power-loss recovery (PLR) status field is duplicated such that the duplicated PLR status field is used if the PLR status field is invalid. By duplicating the PLR status field, reliability of data stored in a memory device such as a flash memory sensitive to power-loss can be increased.